TAX CASE ARGUED IN SUPREME COURT

Must Decide as to Validity of Revenue Act—Other Raleigh News Notes.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Raleigh, N. C., April 11.—The issue as to the validity of the 1911 revenue act for the State, on account of the failure of the Legislature to observe the constitutional equation of three to one between the property and poll tax for schools, in raising the property tax from 18 to 20 cents for school purposes, and not advancing the poll tax accordingly, is now squarely with the Supreme Court. It must decide now whether the precedent of the 1897 court that such an act is invalid shall be sustained, or whether the dissenting opinion of Chief Justice Clark at that time that the act was valid, through the property tax automatically adjusting the poll, was the proper construction of the Constitution.

The case was formally presented to the court this morning by Attorney General T. W. Bickett for the State, or rather, for Governor Kitchin, and by E. F. Dixon for the State Auditor, the latter presenting the view that the act is invalid and that the 1908 revenue act must apply. The court is expected to hand down an opinion with the least possible delay.

The present five-year contract of the State for public school textbooks expires July 1, and the State Textbook Commission will take steps very soon to begin the examination of books tendered for adoption, this work to be done by the subcommittee of practical teachers, which will be appointed by the State Board of Education. When this subcommittee completes its work there will be a report and recommendations to the State Textbook Commission, which, under the law as amended by the recent Legislature, is to consist of the Governor and the Council of State and the members of the subcommittee, the latter having equal vote with the members of the Council of State in the adoption of the books.

The Southern Railway Company has recently assigned to duty in North Carolina, an officer of the industrial department of the Southern Railway, William C. Olds, who spent the past two days here looking over Raleigh and its "back country." He is enthusiastic over prospects for development. While looking over the timber and stone resources of the State, as demonstrated by the exhibits of these resources in the State Museum, Mr. Olds predicted that within ten years North Carolina's development in these resources and many others will be such that the records of development in the New England States, considered to be very great, will be outstripped. The people of North Carolina, he says, have not yet grasped the possibilities that are at hand, but they are in a fair way now to begin for more adequate effort in this direction.

Poses as Martyr on Witness Stand.
 Ascritore Cross-Examined in Camorrist Trial—Recess Until After Easter.

Viterbo, Italy, April 11.—To-day's session of the camorrist trial at Rome occupied throughout with the cross-examination of Giacinto Ascritore, at the conclusion of which an adjournment was taken until after Easter. Ascritore denounced Tomasso de Angelis and Gaetano Amodeo as the murderers of Gaetano Cuocolo and his wife. In order the state alleges, to sustain the real assassins. For two days the prisoner had been trying to convince the jury that he acted in good faith, and was not in a conspiracy with the priest Ciro Vitozzi, who told him authorities that he had learned in the confessional of the guilt of the two men. To-day Ascritore insisted that he still believed De Angelis and Amodeo took part in the killing of the Cuocolos, and he posed as a martyr to the machinations of the camorrist and examining judges. He said in substance:

"During the investigation of the murders I was forced to withdraw my evidence against De Angelis and Amodeo. The carabinieri and the judges prosecuted me for calumny, and kept me in jail for nearly four years. Thus they made a martyr, not only of me, but of my poor mother, who in the eighty-third year of her age, is crying her eyes out."

Ascritore's reference to his mother drew a chorus of wails from the prisoners' pen, and his accusations against De Angelis and Amodeo provoked from the friends of the latter. The day was quite as fruitful of the melodramatic as have been earlier sittings.

Mysterious Italian.
 Detroit, Mich., April 11.—Efforts are being made here to have Luigi Grandi, one of the defendants in the sensational Camorrist trial at Viterbo, Italy, questioned as to what he may know about the identity of an Italian who conducted a private bank in Detroit several years ago, under the name of Berni. The banker fled with $1,000 entrusted to him by confiding countrymen, and a warrant was issued, charging him with the larceny of $50 by conversion. About thirty additional complainants stood ready to start proceedings against the banker if he could be captured.

New Combination Announced.
 [Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Harrisonburg, Va., April 11.—Just as John Paul had announced that the two Republican county committees had held a harmony feast and agreed upon a new county committee, to be submitted to the State Executive Committee, Charles W. Keenel, old Republican leader, came out with a street circular declaring the new combination a fraud.
